

BUYERS GUIDE FOR CAMPER TRAILERS

How To Get The Absolute Best Camper For Your Money

What Exactly Do You Need?

When considering the purchase of a new camper trailer, you should make yourself a list of the things you hope to achieve, both tangible and not.

- What features do you want in a tent and trailer?
- Where are you likely to travel with your new camper trailer?
- What on-board facilities would you like?
- Will you be using the family car, or a four wheel drive?
- How many people do you need to accommodate?
- Do you want on-board water, cooking, storage, or something for a special need?

Where Are You Headed?

For some people it's the off-road trip of a lifetime across the interior of this great continent. For others, it's a weekend at the beach or their favourite national park.

Also allocate an initial budget for the purchase.

Look At Your Options!

Now it's time to look closely at the various products on offer and consider any, or all, of the following points.

When making comparisons always try to ensure that you are comparing 'apples with apples'.

It does get confusing when you look at trailers and see the variations offered.

Try and match up, as closely as possible, the important elements of each camper trailer so you can compare like to like – and see which one offers the best value.

The 12 Questions You MUST Ask

For starters, whether you are looking at the tent or the trailer ask yourself these twelve questions:

1. How is it constructed?
2. Is it reinforced and does it appear to be strong?
3. What thickness of material is used (both in the canvas & the metal)?

4. What is the overall size? (Can you get it either bigger or smaller?)
5. What features are included in the price?
6. Do the wheels, axles & springs suit my needs?
7. Does the trailer have brakes? (Do I need brakes?)
8. How comfortable is the bed and can I get to it easily?
9. How long does it take to erect?
10. Can I tow it with my vehicle?
11. Is it a well known and respected brand?
12. Are other options available for later purchase?
